

CAMP RILEY FUNDRAISER

About Camp Riley

Camp Riley helps inspire youth with physical disabilities to realize their potential as they become increasingly independent.

Every summer, nearly 250 children, ages 8–18, from throughout Indiana and several other states come to Camp Riley. During their time at camp they prove to themselves and others that their strength and willpower define them—not their physical circumstances.

From horseback riding, to swimming, to conquering the high ropes course, campers discover new confidence and make lifelong friends.

Camp Riley holds six different camp sessions during a five-week period each summer at Bradford Woods—Indiana University’s 2,500-acre universally accessible outdoor recreational facility.

WCH is accepting donations now for a fundraiser to benefit the children who attend Camp Riley. WCH has teamed up with the camp to build a drum set, customized by the campers themselves, for their music program. The camp will receive a full drum set that is ready to play. This will be done with your monetary contributions and co-sponsors donations. Riley will receive all proceeds as well!

Donations are being accepted now (until August 31st) at
